PERSONAL FORWARD: TO THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY & INVESTIGATORS

Before you read the attached memorandum, I want to briefly explain what you are looking at, why it is formatted this way, and why I am submitting it.

I am not a lawyer. I am a software engineer, a disabled veteran, and a father. I am submitting this evidence not out of vindictiveness or malice, but out of absolute, exhausted necessity. For years, I did everything in my power to avoid this exact moment.

I gave Megan chance after chance, truly believing her actions were the result of past trauma and bad learned behavior. I tried to save her. I offered her the house, my financial support, and every concession I could make, asking for only one thing in return: to maintain joint custody and remain a father to my two girls, Alexis and Evakay. Because I am not Evakay's biological father, I have lived in constant fear that my bond with her would be weaponized against me. I compromised my own well-being, and let my life be systematically dismantled, just to keep our family intact.

I am not a monster, but I realize now I cannot save her. In trying to do so, I allowed my life and my children's lives to be severely damaged by her escalating fraud. When she resorted to fabricating felonies, manufacturing evidence, and completely destroying my home to sever my relationship with my daughters, I realized the justice system was my only remaining option.

Because I could not afford a high-priced legal team to untangle a decade of chaos, I leaned on my professional background. I built a custom AI framework to forensically audit ten years of court records, police reports, and digital metadata. The matrices, timelines, and statutory breakdowns I am prepared to provide are the output of that system. I stripped away my own emotion, the hearsay, and the drama, leaving you with only the verified, objective data.

I know your office is overwhelmed with cases, and I know you need proof, not stories. That is what I have provided here. I never wanted any of this to happen. Behind all of this legal formatting is simply a man trying to protect his children, save what is left of his home, and finally put an end to a pattern of fraud that has hurt a lot of people.

Thank you for your time, your service to the county, and for looking at the fact
