FYI:

Here is the email Tirzah and I drafted to the Agency, along with Jennifer Jeans' concerns as well.

We hope to hear back soon.

Please keep working on reunification.

Please send me an email with any corrections you want to make to the Court Report.

Subject: Requesting an In-Home Safety Plan for Megan, Donovan and the Girls ASAP

Importance: High

Good morning,

We are requesting a Team meeting to discuss the immediate placement of Evakay and Alexis with their parents.

On June 24, 2024, the Agency stated we were very close to an intensive In-Home Safety Plan. On June 27, 2024, Megan and Donovan submitted detailed answers to the questions proposed to them by Kacey Pomerleau at that June 24th meeting in order to fully assess in-home safety planning.

Donovan has not used since January 13th, and enrolled in rehab on January 25th. Donovan has been officially testing clean with the Agency since March 6, 2024, with continuing services to maintain his sobriety. Both parents have completed parts of their case plan or are engaged with services, including counseling and family therapy.

The placement of the girls with Della has been, at a minimum, very difficult and disrupting to the entire family. Della has stated things to the girls that are damaging. To say the least, the placement has caused more problems and negative emotions for all involved, and the parents are ready, willing and able to care for the children immediately, with intensive oversight of the home. Continuing the placement with Della will only continue to erode the overall family dynamics and is not in the girls' best interest.

Conditions for return are to address safety issues. What are the SPECIFIC safety concerns for the home now?

- Both parents have stated they will allow safety providers in the home and allow complete access.
- They are engaged in counseling and have improved their communication skills and are dedicated to their daughters and dedicated to continue all services that they need too.
- The parents are safe and sober.
- They are maintaining a clean home environment and their jobs and can sustainably provide for the girls' basic needs.
- The parents are extremely communicative with the Agency, attorneys and their service providers.
- The parents are consistently cooperative and engaged and very bonded to their children.

We do not understand the hold up with the In-Home Safety plan?

- The girls building more of a rapport with their counselors is not a safety issue.

If the Agency is concerned about the girls having someone that both the girls and Agency trust where the girls can report potential safety concerns to, give the girls free access to do so with their counselors, in home safety providers and with their case worker and attorney.

We are again requesting another meeting to implement the In-Home Safety Plan and will be asking for the Agency to clarify what remaining safety concerns exist preventing the girls' return home.

Further, if this meeting cannot take place or a reasonable plan cannot be implemented, we will be advocating for the intensive in home safety plan at the Review Hearing.

Please see Jennifer Jeans' concerns below as well.

Please let us know your thoughts.

Sincerely,

Tirzah Faith Mathews, Esq.

Hi Christine and Tirzah,

Thanks for including me in this conversation.

I have been trying to wrap my head around the most recent emails from Jennie about the girls needing to establish a relationship with their therapists' prior to further in home planning.

Truthfully, I do see how a relationship with their therapists could be related to safety, insofar as the agency needs a way to ensure the girls are safe mentally and emotionally.

BUT my concern is that this focus on the girls relationship with their therapists is not within the parents' control and wrongfully puts the responsibility of reunification on the children. We are going to have to rely on other ways to ensure safety.

I have been open and honest with the girls about the status of their case and telling them that the barrier to going home is their relationship with their therapists, who they were just established with, isn't fair to them. It shouldn't be their responsibility and they shouldn't have that pressure. How do I balance my obligation to be honest with them about their case without putting inappropriate pressure on them, and their therapeutic process? Therapy is not going to be effective under these circumstances.

I feel that if the parents have done all that is asked of them, and the girls are in services and participating, a timeline should be put in place.

I would defer to you two if you would like to modify the email to include my concerns, or I can send a follow up email with my thoughts separately.
